Project Title: Disaster Risk Reduction and Management
Training Design: DISASTER AND HAZARD AWARENESS,
 PREPAREDNESS, AND MANAGEMENT

Date: November 20, 2020
Venue: Gosi Sur, Tuguegarao City
Proponents: Engr. Audy R. Quebral
 Engr. Nina Dioceth Sales
 Engr. Anderson Gonzales
 Mrs. Juliet B. Caliguiran

Rationale

The devastation caused by typhoon hinders the overall economic development, behind many other countries in the Southeast Asia. Frequent disasters have been considered as a major obstacle to sustained, long-term economic growth (Benson & Clay, 2004; Alano & Lee, 2016; Alave, 2012; Kim, 2010; Popp, 2006). The "lost growth" between 1970-2010 has been estimated as high as 7.3% of GDP per capita (Alano & Lee, 2016).

It is evident that the large-scale disasters may have a detrimental impact on the food supply on a national level. Data gathered from the Disaster Risk Reduction Status Report stated that typhoon Haiyan (locally named Yolanda) caused an estimated loss of 260,000 tons, leading to severe food shortages across the country; approximately 2.5 million people required food assistance, and roughly a million farmers' livelihoods were compromised as over 67,000 hectares of rice crops were destroyed (Di Nunzio, 2013). Furthermore, it was estimated that the event drove nearly a one million people into poverty (Bowen, 2015). With this, there is a large supply gap of rice as a result of crop vulnerabilities, climate change, inefficiencies in production and growing populations, and now the domestic production is not meeting the demand (Exconde, 2018).

Disasters result losses of livelihoods, thus, reducing spending on education, medicine and nutrient-rich food (Anttila-Hughes & Hsiang, 2013). At the household level, poverty is one the most important factor determining vulnerability, which is reflected in the access of basic services and resources, location of housing, yearly earnings and so on (The World Bank, 2005).

School days are lost and children suffer the compounding negative effects on their schooling during disasters; schools are often used as evacuation centers, buildings are damaged, teaching materials are lost or damaged, schedules are disrupted (Save the Children, 2016) and returning to schooling might be impossible for children from low-income backgrounds..

This year was no different from the previous years as flooding due to torrential rains, typhoons, earthquakes and volcanic eruption created so much devastation. While battling the Covid-19 pandemic and under modified types quarantine since March 16, 2020, typhoons Rolly (international name Goni), Siony (Atsani), and Ulysses (Vamco) that hit the country in November in just a span of two weeks have brought devastation to a large areas of Luzon. According to Ndiame Diop, World Bank Country Director for Brunei, Malaysia, Thailand and the Philippines, "The series of natural disasters that hit the country while we are battling the pandemic highlights the importance of mainstreaming disaster risk reduction and climate change adaptation into policy and planning. While the Philippines is financially resilient, stronger coordination, execution and implementation will help further improve social and physical resilience to frequent shocks." (World Bank, 2020)

In this connection, the College of Engineering through its Extension Program on Pagguruffunan Project of CSU Carig campus would like to take portion in strengthening the disaster risk reduction and management amidst this pandemic. The focus of this extension activity is information dissemination and to enhance the capability of the barangay officials and the residents on disaster preparedness and management, in order to reduce hazard and risk.

The topic to be tackled is on DISASTER AND HAZARD AWARENESS, PREPAREDNESS, AND MANAGEMENT. Thus this training package composed the following topics: Introduction to Disaster and Hazard Awareness, Preparedness and Management, What is hazard?, What is disaster and its effects?, Hazard, Vulnerability, Exposure And Capacity, The Effects of Disaster, The DRRM and RA 10121, and The Four DRRM Thematic Areas.

Objectives:

Generally the project is in supportive of RA 10121 of 2010, otherwise known as the Philippine Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Act of 2010.

Specifically, it will seek to address the following:

1. to provide information on disaster and hazard
2. to give information on disaster preparedness, and management

NARRATIVE REPORT

Training on Disaster Risk and Reduction Management
Through Paggurufunan Para ta Progreso: Unity Towards Community Development

DISASTER PREVENTION AND MITIGATION
Gosi Sur, Tuguegarao City
November 20, 2020

As part of the extension program "Paggurufunan Para ta Progreso: Unity Towards Community Development", the CSU College of Engineering faculty conducted a one-day training at the grounds of Gosi Elementary School last November 20, 2020 for residents and barangay Officials of Gosi Sur. The training was conducted in time for the calamities caused by typhoons and flooding than have caused so much socio-economic impact amidst the Covid-19 pandemic. With the limited mobility and resources, the participants responded positively and were able to join the event. Organizing the event was also an opportunity to broaden the knowledge and increase information for the residents on the topics.

The following project components covered the topics presented during the training:

1. Disaster and Hazard Awareness, Preparedness and Management
2. Disaster Prevention and Mitigation

Registration started at 8:30A.M., before the seminar proper, a short opening program was emceed by Prof. Juliet B. Caliguiran. Invocation followed by the singing of the National Anthem with Imelda Correo , Barangay Official as conductor. The Hon. Victor Blancad, Barangay Chairman of Gosi Sur gave a brief Welcome Remarks to the participants followed by the opening remarks by Prof. Jennilyn E. Acupan, Campus Extension Coordinator.

There were 100 participants from the barangay folks, these attendees were divided into two groups so that the topics will be discussed simultaneously to them.

In the morning session, the topic given to the first group was "Disaster and Hazard Awareness, Preparedness and Management" presented by Engr. Maria Nina Dioceth Sales, Mrs Juliet Caliguiran and Prof. Dennis Policar. And the second group was "Disaster Prevention and Mitigation" which was presented by Engr. Audy Quebral, and Engr. Anderson Gozales. After the session a health break was given and snacks were served to the participants. Next was an open forum after the presentation of the topics followed by evaluation on the seminar conducted by participants, facilitated by Engr. Ralph Estiller and Ms. Patricia Enoc.

To complete the series of seminars for the participants, in the afternoon, this time the first group attended "Disaster Prevention and Mitigation" with same speakers then the second group took "Disaster and Hazard Awareness, Preparedness and Management" and presented by the same speakers. After the presentation, open forum was also administered followed by evaluation by the participants. After which a health break was given and snacks was served.

The College of Engineering Dean, Engr. Audy R. Quebral gave a brief closing remarks. The morning's activity culminated with the awarding of Certificates of appreciation and participation by the College Dean, Engr. Audy Quebral and the Campus Extension Coordinator Prof. Jennilyn Acupan to the resource speakers and participants.

Introduction to Disaster and Hazard Awareness, Preparedness and Management

The Philippines is vulnerable to almost all types of natural hazards because of its geographic location.

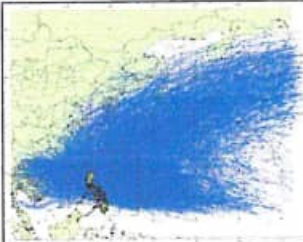

Pacific Typhoon Belt

Explains the existence of an average of 20 typhoons visiting the country every year (5 of which are said to be destructive)

DISASTER OR NOT?

WHAT IS A HAZARD?

Hazard is a dangerous phenomenon, substance, human activity or condition that may cause loss of life, injury or other health impacts, property damage, loss of livelihood and services, social and economic disruption or environmental damage.

WHAT IS A DISASTER?

Disaster is a serious disruption of the functioning of a community or a society involving widespread human, material, economic or environmental losses and impacts, which exceeds the ability of the affected community or society to cope using its own resources.

Disasters are often described as a result of the combination of: the exposure to a hazard; the conditions of vulnerability that are present; and insufficient capacity

THE DISASTER EQUATION AND THE DISASTER MANAGEMENT CYCLE

$$R = H \times V \times E$$

R = Risk

H = Hazard

V = Vulnerability

E = Exposure

C = Capacity

27

Increase capacity to decrease vulnerability, thus, reducing disaster risk.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Exposure - the degree to which the elements at risk are likely to experience hazard events of different magnitudes.

Capacity - a combination of all strengths and resources available within a community, society or organization that can reduce the level of risk, or effects of a disaster.

28

THE DISASTER EQUATION AND THE DISASTER MANAGEMENT CYCLE

Some hazard events may occur but tries to lessen the impact by improving the community's ability to absorb the impact with minimum damage or destruction.

The Disaster Management Cycle is a traditional approach to disaster management wherein disaster measure is regarded as a number of phased sequences of action or a continuum. It aims to reduce the vulnerabilities in the community.

When sustained over long term, it reduces unacceptable risk to acceptable levels and makes a community become disaster resistant or resilient.

29

In this photo, how do you reduce disaster risk?

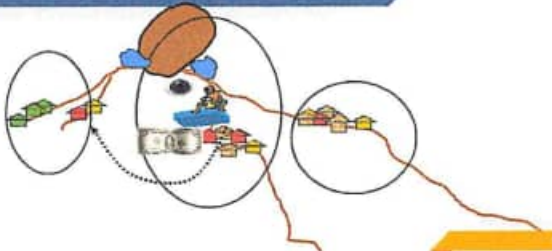

30

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Hazard - a dangerous phenomenon, substance, human activity or condition that may cause loss of life, injury or other health impacts, property damage, loss of livelihood and services, social and economic disruption, or environmental damage.

Vulnerability - the characteristics and circumstances of a community, system or asset that make it susceptible to the damaging effects of a hazard.

RA 10121:
The Paradigm
Shift in the Philippine
DRRM System

LEARNING FROM PAST DISASTERS..

Disasters caused by natural hazards, human-induced incidents and climate change abound in the country. There are also the problems brought about by the vulnerabilities which increase disaster risks.

Poor construction

Inappropriate location

Fast growing population

Urbanization/ Environmental degradation

Pollution

WHAT IS DRRM?

LEARNING FROM PAST DISASTERS..

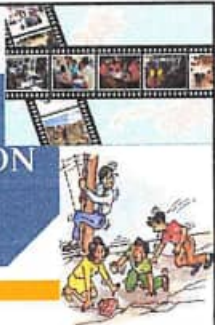

Disasters, especially the natural hazards, cannot ultimately be controlled and avoided. However, the underlying factors and pressures that cause the vulnerabilities can be managed so that the risks can be reduced.

DISASTER RISK REDUCTION AND MANAGEMENT

the systematic process of using: administrative directives, organizations and operational skills and capacities

To implement strategies, policies and improved coping capacities

In order to lessen the adverse impacts of hazards and the possibility of disaster.

ENGR. AUDY QUEBRAL
ENGR. ANDERSON GONZALES

Mitigation

"Secondary" mitigation
reducing the EFFECTS of the Hazard (Preparedness)
e.g. by staying alert to possible evacuation of population; by being ready to provide immunization, food, clean water, sanitation and health care to evacuees

Topics

- Disaster Prevention and Mitigation
- Principal Objectives of Mitigation
- Menu of Emergency Management Actions
- Physical Planning Measures
- Economic Measures
- Management and institutional Measures
- Societal Measures
- Engineering and Construction Measures

Principal Objectives of Mitigation

- Save lives
- Reduce economic disruption
- Decrease vulnerability/increase capacity
- Decrease chance/level of conflict to respond and to recover will be stronger.

RISK REDUCTION

Mitigation

Permanent reduction of the risk of disaster.
"Primary" mitigation
reducing the PRESENCE of the Hazard
reducing Vulnerability
e.g. to avoid overcrowding, deforestation, immunizing people against smallpox made them less vulnerable to the virus, and slowly eradicated

Menu of Emergency Management Actions

Disaster prevention calls for the coordinated effort of the whole society.
Disaster Prevention and Emergency Management are multi-sectoral disciplines

Engineering	Conflict Resolution
Economic	Spatial planning
Societal	Management and institutionalization

Physical Planning Measures

Decentralization of elements at risk
Control of population density
Design of services and roads
Land use planning and management measures

Societal Measures

Public information campaigns (TV, radio, website and mobile advisories, social media)
Education (integration in subjects)
De-sensationalize hazards
Community involvement
Drills (Earthquake & Fire Drills)

Economic Measures

Diversification of economic activity
Economic incentives (grants loans, taxes)
Insurance

Engineering and Construction Measures

Pacific Ring of Fire

This explains the existence of earthquakes, tsunamis and around 300 volcanoes (22 are active) in the country.

Introduction to Disaster and Hazard Awareness, Preparedness and Management

The Philippines is vulnerable to almost all types of natural hazards because of its geographic location.

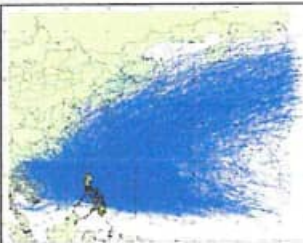

Pacific Typhoon Belt

Explains the existence of an average of 20 typhoons visiting the country every year (5 of which are said to be destructive)

DISASTER OR NOT?

WHAT IS A HAZARD?

Hazard is a dangerous phenomenon, substance, human activity or condition that may cause loss of life, injury or other health impacts, property damage, loss of livelihood and services, social and economic disruption or environmental damage.

WHAT IS A DISASTER?

Disaster is a serious disruption of the functioning of a community or a society involving widespread human, material, economic or environmental losses and impacts, which exceeds the ability of the affected community or society to cope using its own resources.

Disasters are often described as a result of the combination of: the exposure to a hazard; the conditions of vulnerability that are present; and insufficient capacity

THE DISASTER EQUATION AND THE DISASTER MANAGEMENT CYCLE

$$R = H \times V \times E$$

R = Risk

H = Hazard

V = Vulnerability

E = Exposure

C = Capacity

C

Increase capacity to decrease vulnerability, thus, reducing disaster risk.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Exposure - the degree to which the elements at risk are likely to experience hazard events of different magnitudes.

Capacity - a combination of all strengths and resources available within a community, society or organization that can reduce the level of risk, or effects of a disaster.

THE DISASTER EQUATION AND THE DISASTER MANAGEMENT CYCLE

Some hazard events may occur but tries to lessen the impact by improving the community's ability to absorb the impact with minimum damage or destruction.

The Disaster Management Cycle is a traditional approach to disaster management wherein disaster measure is regarded as a number of phased sequences of action or a continuum. It aims to reduce the vulnerabilities in the community.

When sustained over long term, it reduces unacceptable risk to acceptable levels and makes a community become disaster resistant or resilient.

In this photo, how do you reduce disaster risk?

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Hazard - a dangerous phenomenon, substance, human activity or condition that may cause loss of life, injury or other health impacts, property damage, loss of livelihood and services, social and economic disruption, or environmental damage.

Vulnerability - the characteristics and circumstances of a community, system or asset that make it susceptible to the damaging effects of a hazard.

EFFECTS OF DISASTERS

Human toll: dead, injured and missing
Families displaced
Lost livelihoods
Damages and losses
Slows economic development
Hampers delivery of services

RA 10121: The Paradigm Shift in the Philippine DRRM System

LEARNING FROM PAST DISASTERS...

Disasters caused by natural hazards, human-induced incidents and climate change abound in the country. There are also the problems brought about by the vulnerabilities which increase disaster risks.

- Poor construction
- Inappropriate location
- Fast growing population
- Urbanization/ Environmental degradation
- Pollution

WHAT IS DRRM?

LEARNING FROM PAST DISASTERS...

Disasters, especially the natural hazards, cannot ultimately be controlled and avoided. However, the underlying factors and pressures that cause the vulnerabilities can be managed so that the risks can be reduced.

THE FOUR THEMATIC AREAS IN DRRM

- Disaster Prevention and Mitigation
- Disaster Preparedness
- Disaster Response
- Disaster Rehabilitation and Recovery

THEN

- TOP-DOWN CENTRALIZED DISASTER MANAGEMENT
- DISASTERS AS FUNCTION OF PHYSICAL HAZARDS
- POOR ON-SCENE RESPONSE

NOW

- BOTTOM-UP PARTICIPATORY DISASTER RISK REDUCTION AND MANAGEMENT
- DISASTERS AS REFLECTION OF PEOPLE'S VULNERABILITY
- INTEGRATED APPROACH TO REDUCE DISASTER RISK

Disaster Preparedness

Establish and strengthen capacities of communities to anticipate, cope and recover from the negative impacts of emergency occurrences and disasters

Disaster Prevention and Mitigation

Avoid hazards and mitigate their potential impacts by reducing vulnerabilities and exposure and enhancing capacities of communities

Disaster Response

Provide life preservation and meet the basic subsistence needs of affected population based on acceptable standards during or immediately after a disaster

Disaster Rehabilitation and Recovery

Restore and improve facilities and living conditions and capacities of affected communities, and reduce risks in accordance with the "building back better" principle

Central Goal

Safer, adaptive and disaster resilient Filipino communities towards sustainable development

RISK REDUCTION

Mitigation

Permanent reduction of the risk of disaster.
"Primary" mitigation
reducing the PRESENCE of the Hazard
reducing Vulnerability
e.g. to avoid overcrowding, deforestation, immunizing people against smallpox made them less vulnerable to the virus, and slowly eradicated

Menu of Emergency Management Actions

Disaster prevention calls for the coordinated effort of the whole society.
Disaster Prevention and Emergency Management are multi-sectoral disciplines

Project Title: Disaster Risk Reduction and Management
Training: DISASTER PREVENTION AND MITIGATION

Summary of Evaluation

The one-day training on Disaster risk reduction and management extension program of the College of Engineering was participated by 14 residents of Gosi Sur, Tuguegarao City.

The objectives of the training was presented after which a lecture was provided to the participants on Disaster Prevention and Mitigation. This is to equip them basic knowledge on the different preventive disaster measures and increase awareness on prevention and mitigation.

After the lecture, questions from the participants were answered, then evaluation instrument were distributed to the participants to rate the seminar, the four items included in the instruments namely; course content, training schedule, timeliness and resource speakers.

The said training was rated as follows: on the items course content and training schedule, there are four statement given which were rated by the clientele as outstanding. And the weighted mean for these two items were outstanding. Thus, this shows that the course content were very important to them and the training schedule is very timely for them and the time set is just enough for the whole duration of the training.

Under timeliness, the participants or clientele rated it as outstanding. Their concerns and issues related to the lecture they have given were addressed during the seminar.

As to the resource speakers, all of them were rated by the clientele or participants as outstanding as shown on the result of the statement included in the evaluation instrument. All the statement outstanding. This shows that resource speakers are knowledgeable and that there is mastery in the delivery of their assigned topics.

As a summary, the over-all weighted mean is 5 or outstanding. Thus, this implies the training conducted was very beneficial and timely to the barangay folks.
