II. RATIONALE

Disasters such as super typhoons, floods, earthquakes, or accidents are typically unexpected, sudden, and overwhelming. They are indeed upsetting experiences for everyone involved.

The emotional toll that disaster brings can sometimes be even more devastating than the financial strains of damage and loss of home, business or personal property. For some people, there may be no outwardly visible signs of physical injury, but there can be nonetheless an emotional toll. It is common for people who have experienced disaster to have strong emotional reactions. Understanding responses to distressing events can help one cope effectively with one's feelings, thoughts, behaviors, and help along the path to recovery. Children, senior citizens, and people with no access or functional needs are especially at risk. Children may become afraid and some elderly people may seem disoriented at first. People with access or functional needs may require additional assistance.

Each disaster is a unique event that requires careful assessment. And because relief and recovery may take a long time, it is imperative to create a strategic plan of response to identify and help the most vulnerable and severely affected people. The long-term disaster-response work of the Cagayan State University-Carig Campus unfolds over several phases and can last for years. In its initial response, CSU-Carig conducted needs assessments and gathered information to determine the available resources, partners, and assets of the affected communities. In reality, the stages of recovery don't always follow a neatly defined course or timeline. Yet there are several phases that unfold as communities begin to rebuild their lives after disasters.

In all cases, the relief phase of a disaster transitions into the recovery phase, when systems are in place and people are no longer worried about survival but can turn to rebuilding their lives. In recovery, the affected population is in a more stable period of transition. They have a place to get food and water and a temporary or transitional shelter that can withstand wind and rain. They can go about their daily lives, beginning to resume some kind of normal existence. Relief and recovery is a priority for the Cagayan State University-Carig Campus and has always been a pillar of its Extension Services. This paved the implementation of COMMUNITY-BASED DISASTER RISK MANAGEMENT AND HUMANITARIAN ASSISTANCE after typhoon Ulysses swept the province during the later part of last year. With this, CSU-Carig intends to remain in an area after a disaster to continue provide opportunities for important long-term engagement and improvement towards the "new normal"

When recovery systems are in place, they can be leveraged to improve people's lives beyond the point of disaster recovery. Here, CSU-Carig works directly with affected communities to identify priority needs and to determine how and when to become involved. This is the phase in which focus is on making daily life better for marginalized or vulnerable communities in which people are surviving and thriving. This training will work with a community to focus on Disaster Preparation, Response and Recovery and providing a forum for behavioral change among the typhoon victims who are now settled in the Salinong ni San Jose at Taytay. Baggao , Cagayan.

III. OBJECTIVES

Goal :

To enhance ability of remote community to prepare and respond to disaster and recover from its aftermath.

Objectives :

1. To provide shared understanding on disaster preparation, response and recovery;

2. To help target clients recognize symptoms of family stress and provide recovery mechanisms;

3. Increase resilience of poor communities and reduce vulnerability to disaster risk.

4. Gradually recover from the ill effects of super typhoon.

IV. MECHANICS/METHODOLOGY

Activities:

1. Collaborate with the LGUs and partner agencies (SJCBI and SJTWP) procure data of the target barangay/households flood victims

2. Plan and Organize network with the stakeholders

3. Collaborate with Barangay Officials groupings of households for Training

4. Film Viewing on Climate Change

5. Training on disaster preparation, response and recovery;

6. Foodpack/Health Kit distribution with the Barangay Officials

V. EXPECTED OUTPUT

1. 400 flood victims will become prepared, responsive and have the ability to quickly recover from the aftermath of disasters.

2. 50 infographics distributed

3. 400 food packs distributed

VI. EXPECTED OUTCOMES AND IMPACT

About 100% targeted flood victims will obtain training on disaster resiliency to face the aftermath of flood caused by typhoon Ulysses. After training, these targeted clients will become stronger with positivism of rising again and ready to move on. They will disseminate their knowledge among the family members and neighbors and be contributors in building community resiliency. Additionally, they will be sustained with the food provision and health kits for few days.

Narrative Report
RESPONSE AND RECOVERY FROM THE AFTERMATH OF TYPHOON ULYSSES CUM RFELIEF OPERATION

Early morning of July 22, 2021, a convoy of 4 CSU-Carig vehicles shuttled campus officials and extensionist to the Salinong ni San Jose relocation site in Taytay Bantay, Baggao Cagayan for a collaborative extension endeavor. This was led by the Campus Executive Officer, Dr. Arthur G. Ibanez who is in full support to RDE projects and activities of the campus. Upon reaching the site at 8:00am, there awaits our partners from the Saint Joseph College of Baggao Incorporated and Saint Joseph the Worker Parish directed by Rev. Fr. Gerard Ariston P. Perez. Four hundred household members who were recipients of the Salinong ni San Jose Shelter project were already convened for the training through prior coordination with SJCBI VP for Admin, Dr. Marissa Palomares.

Not a single minute was wasted as the College Coordinators and Faculty Extensionists positioned themselves for the registration of participants. Efforts extended by the RDE Director, Engr. Policarpio L. Mabborang Jr. was indeed noteworthy. The opening program began at 8:30 hosted by Prof Federica Gonzales. An Invocation was led by an officer of SJCBI followed by an act of nationalism. In his welcome address, the barangay chairperson was so generous with his comfy remarks coupled with words of thanks to CSU, DOST and SJWP for having chosen his area of responsibility as recipients of noble extension services. In his message, CEO Arthur Ibanez committed the support of CSU-Carig in extending humanitarian services and relief operations to communities who are victims of disasters. Fr. Gerry was likewise so emphatic on their mission to help the less fortunate victims of calamities through partnership with other institutions such as the Cagayan State university in the delivery of extension service.

After the opening program, A film on Climate Change was played for the participants to view. The film glided with the concept of climate change, its causes, the greenhouse effect, the consequences of climate change and finally winding to what we can do to mitigate climate change. The following were underscored to mitigate climate change, swift to renewable energy, plant trees, enact and enforce clean air act as well as solid waste management and protection of wild life. With these, "Altogether, We Can Save the Future" thus viewed on the film.

The film viewing was followed by a lecture on "Response and Recovery from Aftermath of Disasters. Impacts of winds during the public storm signals No.1 to No.5 was discussed and the things to be done during the transitions of typhoon signals was substantially elucidated by Prof. Dennis Policar. His presentation progressed to Tips in preparing for calamities particularly flooding. Emphasis was made on disaster preparation, response and recovery.

Just after the presentation, the participants were organized to ease the distribution of food packs and health kits in partial implementation of the S&T-Based Rehabilitation of Damages Caused by Typhoon Ulysses and Widespread Flooding in Cagayan. The Food pack distribution terminated the day's activity leaving the participants well informed with smiles of hope on their faces.

July 22,2021

Revised Public Storm Signal Warning

PSWS	LEAD TIME (hrs)	WINDS (KPH)	IMPACTS OF THE WIND
#1	36	30 - 60	No damage to very light damage
#2	24	61-120	Light to moderate damage
#3	18	121-170	Moderate to heavy damage
#4	12	171-220	Heavy to very heavy damage
#5	12	more than 220	Very heavy to widespread damage

What to do during Public Storm Signal No. 1:

1. Listen to your radio for more information about weather disturbance.

2. Check the ability of the house to withstand strong winds and strengthen it if necessary.

3. The people are advised to monitor the latest severe weather Bulletin issued by PAGASA every six hours. In the meantime, business may be carried out as usual except when flood occurs.

What to do during Public Storm Signal No. 2:

1. Special attention should be given to the latest position, the direction and speed movement as the cyclone may intensity and move towards the locality.

2. The general public, especially people travelling by sea and air are cautioned to avoid unnecessary risks.

3. Protect properties before signals are upgraded.

4. Board up windows or put storm shutters in place and securely fasten it. Stay at home.

What to do during Public Storm Signal No. 3:

1. Keep your radio on and listen to the latest news about typhoon.

2. Everybody is advised to stay in safe and strong houses.

3. Evacuate from low-lying areas to higher grounds.

4. Stay away from coasts and riverbanks.

5. Watch out for the passage of the "EYE" of the typhoon.

What to do during Public Storm Signal No. 4:

1. Stay in safe houses or evacuation centers
2. All travels and outdoor activities should be cancelled.
3. Keep listening to your radio to the latest news about the typhoon.

What to do during Public Storm Signal No. 5:

1. Stay in safe houses or evacuation centers
2. All travels and outdoor activities should be cancelled.

FLOODING

Preparation for Calamities particularly Flooding

1. Regularly monitor your radio and television for calamity news updates.
2. Prepare for enough candles, rechargeable lamps and flashlights for possible brownouts.
3. If you reside in an area near the river, waterways, or mountainsides, immediately evacuate to prevent flashfloods and landslides.
4. Store enough food, water, and first-aid kit.
5. Prepare a list of emergency hotlines.

When disaster strikes: Preparation, response and recovery

No one is totally immune from disaster. Every year, businesses temporarily shut down—or close forever—because of a disaster such as a flood, fire or typhoon. Forty percent of businesses do not reopen after a disaster and another 25 percent fail within one year.

Fortunately, you can take proactive steps to mitigate the impact of a disaster.

Disaster preparation

Households—especially in areas prone to floods often prepare for disasters by storing extra supplies, having an evacuation plan, and learning about emergency resources. Businesses similarly want to prepare, with a focus on restoring your operations as soon as possible and minimizing your losses. To prepare adequately for a disaster, take the following steps:

Develop a formal written plan—Sometimes called a "Disaster Recovery Plan" or "Business Continuity Plan," this document should detail how your business will respond to and recover from a disaster, including temporarily relocating your business.

Store emergency supplies—Keep flashlights, a first-aid kit and a battery-powered radio on hand. you You may even want to store food, water and blankets. As feasible and needed, consider stocking equipment that can help your business return to operations, such as a generator.

Maintain key information offsite

Disaster response and recovery

After a disaster, you'll want to put your Disaster Recovery Plan into action. In the immediate aftermath of a disaster, take the following actions as appropriate:

1. Secure your building, boarding up entry points if necessary.
2. Make temporary repairs, especially to minimize further damage, such as placing a tarp over a hole in your roof.
3. Relocate salvageable equipment and property to a safe, protected location.
4. Inspect your property and keep a detailed list of damages; take photos to document damage.
5. Clean up your property, taking care to wear safety gear such as gloves and protective eyewear. If feasible, save damaged property in case it needs to be inspected by your insurance adjuster.
6. Contact your insurance professional and your insurer to begin the claims process.
7. Keep receipts of all expenses related to the disaster.
8. Once you've secured your property and taken other immediate steps, you can begin to focus on making your business operational once again. You should lay the groundwork for restarting operations in your Disaster Recovery Plan. Issues to consider include:

Taytay Baggao, Cagayan

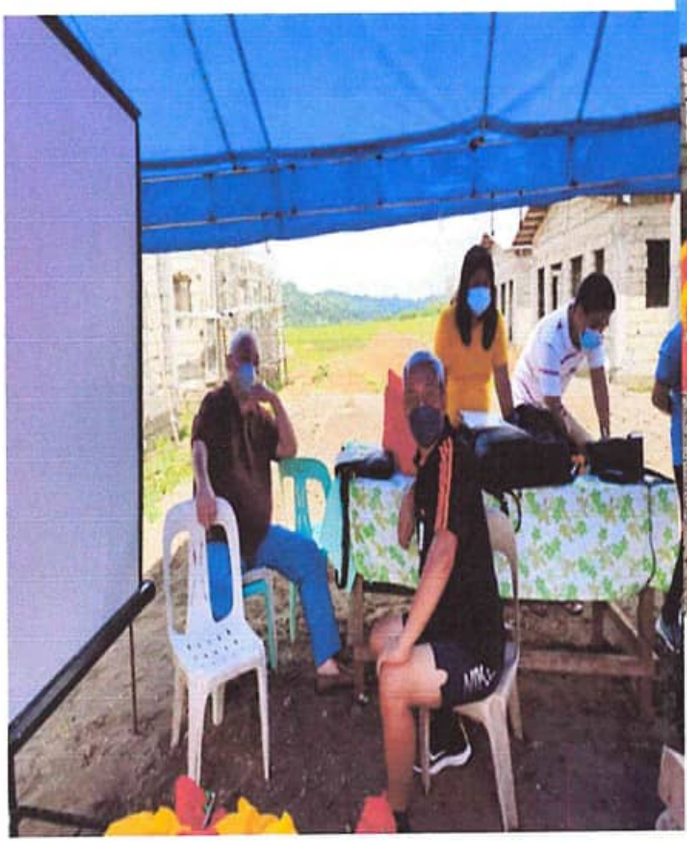

July 22,2021

Early Morning of July 22, 2021, four CSU-Carig Vehicles headed to the Salinong ni San Jose Recolation Site in Taytay Bantay, Baggao, Cagayan for a collaborative extension activity with Saint Joseph College of Baggao Inc. and Saint Joseph the Worker Parish. Along with it is the distribution of foodpacks and health kits to the target clients as part implementation of a joint reseach project of CSU, DOST and PCAARD.

While waiting for the program to begin, CEO Arthur Ibanez and SJCBI President and Parish priest of SJTWP discussed plans in sustaining the Extension Project started in this relocation site.

Registration of participants were tackled by the college extension coordinators and faculty extensionists.

The participation of RDE Director, Engr. Policarpio L. Mabborang Jr. in getting the profile of the participants was indeed remarkable.

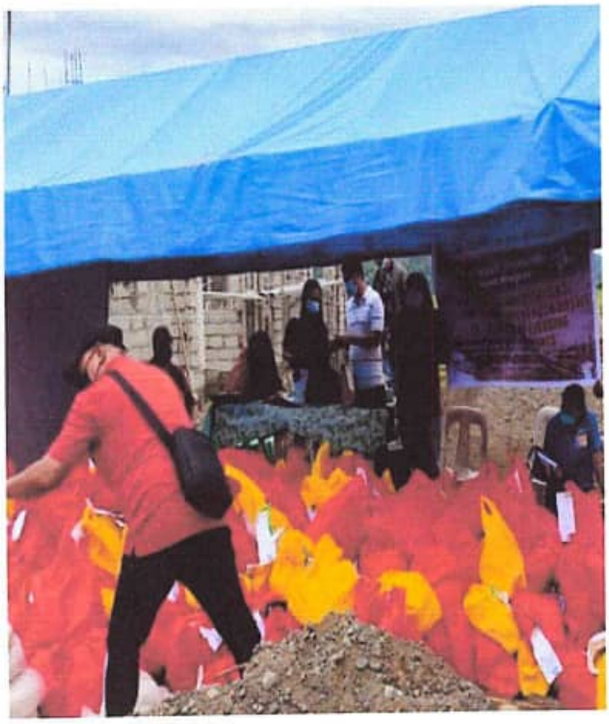

Finally, the Opening Program began at 8:30 hosted by Prof. Federica Gonzales. It started with a prayer to ask for blessings and divine providence.

The Barangay Chairperson of Taytay Bantay thank CSU, DOST, SJCBI and SJWP for choosing his area of responsibility as recipient of the humanitarian extension service. In his message, CEO Arthur Ibanez committed the support of CSU-Carig in extending humanitarian services and relief operations to communities who are victims of disasters. Fr. Gerry was likewise so emphatic on their mission to help the less fortunate victims of calamities through partnership with other institutions such as the Cagayan State University in the delivery of extension service.

Prof. Dennis Policar lectured on "Response and Recovery from Aftermath of Disasters. Impacts of winds during the public storm signals No.1 to No.5 was discussed and the things to be done during the transitions of typhoon signals was substantially elucidated. Tips in preparing for calamities particularly flooding was also emphasized.

A film on Climate Change was played for the participants to view. The film glided with the concept of climate change, its causes, the greenhouse effect, the consequences of climate change and finally winding to what we can do to mitigate climate change. "Altogether, We Can Save the Future"

One of the Barangay Kagawad was interviewed on his insights on the film viewed.

Distribution of food packs and health kits Was done by the CEO Arthur Ibanez Together Pres. Rev. Fr. Gerry Perez. They Were assisted by the Campus Extension Coordinator, Prof. Jennilyn Acupan and SUCBI VP for Admin, Dr. Marissa Palomares.

These two Deans, Dr. Audy Quebral, College of Engineering and Architecture and Dr. Generino Siddayao, College of Information and Computing Science spearheaded the systematic movement of goods from the Bus to the distribution Center.
